Our Supporters

Help us grow

Our teachers, lunch ladies, administration, office ladies, and other staff are at the very root of what makes Telstar grow. They spend countless hours making our school a better place for all of our students. Without a strong, supportive set of roots, we could never reach our full potential. Every home game, every event, and every day in class our supporters are there cheering us on and giving us the strong foundation we need to grow.

"They inspire you, they entertain you, and you end up learning a ton even when you don't know it" - Nicholas Sparks

Dear Telstar Students,

People often say that your high school years are the best years of your life. Decades from now, when you take out your copy of this yearbook to prepare for an upcoming reunion with your classmates or just decide to take some time to reminisce a bit about the past, I hope that feeling is true for you.

You have been fortunate to spend your high school career in a setting that has allowed you to develop close friendships with your peers and to get to know many of your teachers on a personal level. That is the true benefit of a small school. I suspect that many of the people who consider to be your closest friends today will remain that way no matter what the future may bring.

To the members of the Class of 2016 - as you prepare to leave Telstar to tackle new adventures, I wish you all the best of what the world has to offer. Whether you are heading into the world of work, enrolling in college or serving our country in a branch of military service, I wish you continued success and a long, happy and prosperous life filled with good fortune! I hope that you will look back on your years in our school district with great memories and that you will always be proud alumnus of Telstar High School!

Highlights

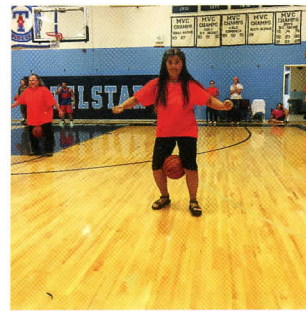

During the pep rally Fabian Corriveau, Michael LaForte, Shawn Mador, and Alex Minc, got makeovers. When asked what thoughts were running through his head during the makeover, Michael said, "My first thought was "oh my God why did I let this happen". My second thought was " I hope I look beautiful " haha!!"

Lesson Learned: Student Council found out that shaving cream is not good for the gym floor. Sorry Ms. Hale!

This year we did not have a bonfire, but instead held our own games and events on the Telstar Track before the football game.

Michael LaForte and Fabian Corriveau look stunning after their makeovers during the pep rally.

Homecoming

Catching the spirit!

Every year student council organizes homecoming. This year the four classes battled it out to see which class had the most spirit. Rebels' dressed up all week, participated in games during the pep rally, and ultimately showed that this school has a lot of pride. Who can forget Willis Steven, Caleb Wilday, Sonja Farrington and Gabe Pasternak sitting on a bag of ice during the pep rally?! That right there says, OUR SCHOOL knows how to have fun!

Selena Creelmen, Xi Whitehead, Julia Cherkes, Tashanona York, Brooklyn Gordyn, McKinley Braley, and Hannah Evans cheer on their fellow rebels at the Football homegame!

FOOTBALL

"It's not just a sport, it's a brotherhood"

Seniors: Jack Connell, Dakota Hutchins, Elizabeth Brooks, Dakota Merrill, Calvin Glover, Devin Merrill, Fabian Corriveau, and Keith Harrington-Crockett.

Captains: Calvin Glover, Jack Connell, Elijah Mason, and Dakota Merrill led the Rebels not just on the field, but in practice, locker rooms, and even outside of football. The Telstar Rebels may not have won every game, but they enjoyed every snap together.

During my four years of high school field hockey I have created some of the best memories that I have. From homecoming boxes to birthday spanking and senior gifts; the time spent on and off the field with this team is something that I wouldn't trade for the world. I'll never forget the 20 minute run before practice, we all hated it but once we started it was never as bad as we thought. As a team we will never forget all the times be begged Gail to practice corners, rock, tree, bridge, searching for balls in the woods for candy, and most of all STICKERS. Coach White and Coach Davis worked really hard to make sure that every practice was both fun and beneficial. My advice for the girls I'm leaving behind would be to listen to the coaches, push yourself during the 20 minute run, keep your stick down, and never give up. Good luck!

-Becca Howard, Captain

FIELD HOCKEY

"Hard work beats talent when talent fails to work hard."

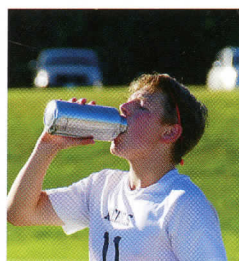

"Maggie Bergeron, Shannon Alanskas, Hakan Chartier, James Newkirk, and Elijah Laird are watching all the action on the field!"

"Kellen True and Hakan Chartier strike a pose, but they're really trying to steal that ball!"

"What is one thing you like the most about being a captain?"

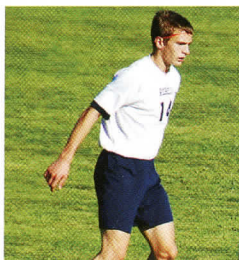

Captain; Willis Stevens

"Being a captain means leading by example, being positive and working hard to leave a good impact on your fellow players. Being a captain gives me the confidence it takes to lead my team. Next year, I hope to have as much rebel pride as KayKay."

Captain; Ashley Savage

"Pulling together the team. It was important for me going into the Co-Ed team as the girls captain that the girls felt involved and comfortable talking to me. I loved being asked questions or being asked for help throughout the season."

Captain; Avry Griffin

"Personally, my favorite part of being a captain this season was being able to bring everyone together on the field and keeping the morale at a high; it's what kept us in the game and made us contenders."

Aye, Aye, Captain!

"Although we fell short of our goal to make the playoffs, I think we had a great season as a team. We won more games then before and I could see how everyone improved. We even finished the season playing very competitively against top ranked Monmouth and our cross town rival Gould Academy. It was a sad year for the girls soccer program. With not enough players to make a team, they were forced to cancel their season. The boys team benefitted from this with 4 of the girls, Ashley Savage, Shannon Alanskas, Maggie Bergeron, and Kaity Killam, deciding to come play with the boys. The addition of the ladies gave our team some needed depth in the roster. Adding goalie Tanner Wheeler to the roster this year allowed Kellen True to move to the front where he earned a second team all-star selection. Many of the players are returning next year and we will continue to grow. My early prediction for next season is we will be very competitive and make the playoffs." -Coach John Eliot

English

The more that you READ,
The more things you will KNOW.
The more things you LEARN,
The more places you will GO."

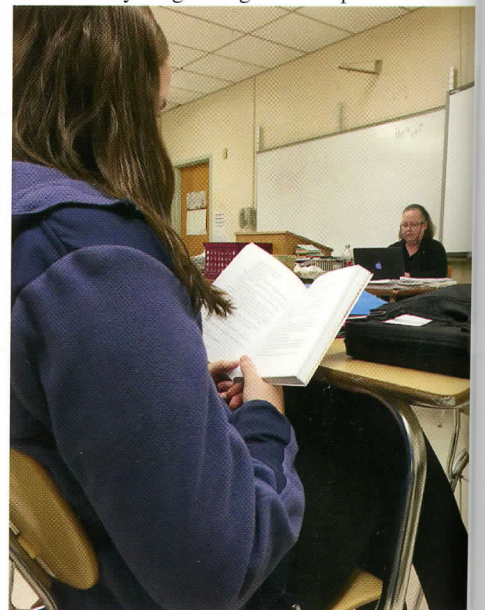

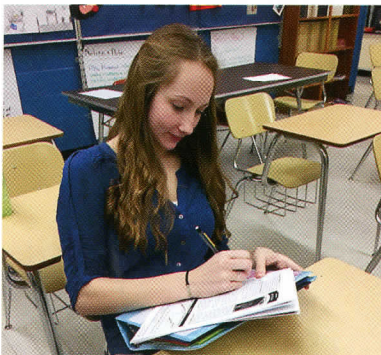

"My English classes offer an opportunity for students to master and build upon their basic skills of reading, writing, and interpreting the written and spoken word, skills that were first learned in grammar and elementary schools. In the educational systems of the New Millennium, students must not lose sight of the nuances in our language that can change the entire meaning of a statement. In high school English courses, they are challenged to push those basic skills to new heights by pondering the implications of meanings. These courses allow students to explore novels they have possibly touched upon in previous years, or stories and movies they saw on television, in a more meaningful depth, a depth that includes the history, economics, and societal settings of the time period in which the author intended. They also offer an opportunity to study an author's intent and influence—such as the role Wisconsin United States Senator Joseph McCarthy's House Un-American Activities Committee had on Arthur Miller's "Crucible." In this manner, students can contemplate ideas such as: What effect does culture have on literature? What effect does literature have on culture? Can you compare and contrast the world written about to the one in which we live today, drawing from your knowledge of the novel and research about the author and the times covered in the work of art?

I want every one of my students to capture their life's dreams. Learning English well is one strong component of achieving that goal—no matter what career or pathway they choose in life, successful written and spoken communication is imperative to achieving success with others in the world. Recently, several corporate chief executive officers and company owners in the United States shared that were it not for their strong English skills, they would not have achieved their great successes. Clear writing offers a personal way to express one's innermost thoughts. Strong reading skills offers opportunities to learn new ideas and travel to places one only dreams about. My goal is to help all my students follow a pathway that will help them eventually understand this."

"I like taking Spanish because it reminds me that the world is so diverse. I also feel as though it will help me one day in my desire to travel the world. Knowing another language will make my traveling experiences much easier and more enjoyable."

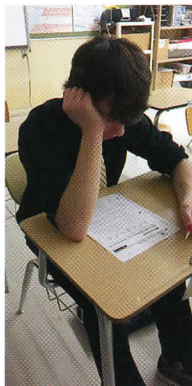

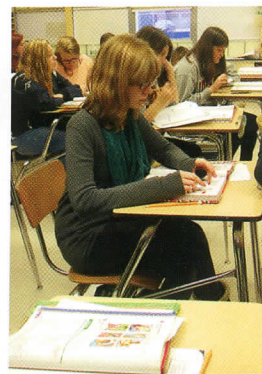

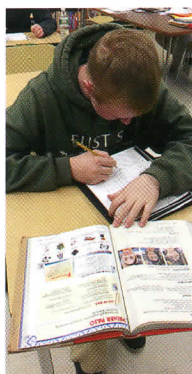

-Avry Griffin, Spanish 3

"I enjoy taking Spanish because it requires me to challenge myself and expand my knowledge about different parts of the world. It is also required for college.."

-Tanner Wheeler, Spanish 2

"I enjoy learning Spanish because I feel as though it will help me in the future. Taking Spanish for these past four year has been a challenge, but I hope to end the year with the ability to communicate with people who speak Spanish. Plus, my Spanish four class is only Savannah and myself, so we have a lot of fun classes with Señora Ojeda!"

Telstar High School Community Organization

"We have recently changed the name of our group from the Telstar High School PTO to the Telstar High School Community Organization

Mission Statement: Telstar High School Community Organization is a collaborative team of students, teachers, parents, and administrators united to foster pride and a culture that encourages excellence, opportunities, and communication.

So far this year we have developed the group and determined our mission and our goals. We have started by having discussions around the future of the school and education in the state. We have discussed the shift towards standards based grading and next year's schedule. As we move forward the group will pick various other topic to discuss and look at how they are impacting our students. " -Mrs. Dacko

What activities do you participate in throughout the community?

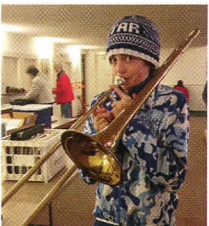

"Baking pies for church dinner and bell ringing for the rotary."
-Sarhanne Wright

"Bethel Outing Club, Bethel Community Theatre, Youth Group at The Bethel Alliance"
-Kellen True

"Church functions such as dinner or community service projects, community band, Nordic skiing....."

Our Community

Helps us branch out

Our community helps us branch out into the world by providing many activities for students to participate in. There are students who are involved in dance classes, theater, band, and who help out with activities at a variety of churches in the area. There are also places that provide fun activities for students, like the Gem. The community even supports us by watching concerts, games, and other student activities. This year we have a Telstar High School Community Organization, where teachers and parents are working together to make our school a better place. There are all sorts of learning opportunities in the community that bring the community together as a whole, we just have to go out and find them.

WINTER CARNIVAL

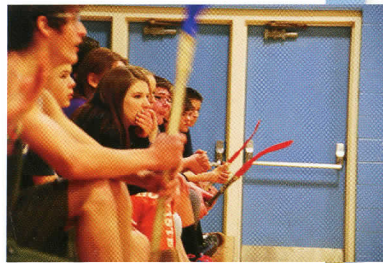

The "Coolest" week long competition here at Telstar!

The ultimate victory of winning Winter Carnival creates this inner satisfaction that you can't explain to anyone outside of the Telstar community. Every student looks forward to this week of games and good ol' battle of the classes and Alumni always reflect fondly on their own WC.

Student Council begins planning in early December; picking the theme and deciding on dress-up days. Plans are made, paper is ordered for wall decorating and each class prepares. All of the hardwork pays off when the highly anticipated week finally arrives.

Teachers and staff all claim this was the most enjoyable WC we have had. The sportsmanship of each class was top notch and the wall decorating was by far the most creative and fun to look at!

The Seniors end up winning with a strong lead that none of the other classes could catch up to. Juniors take 2nd, Sophomores 3rd, and Freshmen 4th.

Boys Basketball

Boys Varsity

"The 2015/16 basketball season was full of highs and lows. We experienced tremendous support from the student body and community members. Unfortunately, we were not able to give them as many wins as we would have liked to. With hard work and dedication this offseason and summer, and the help of some senior leadership, we plan to make up for that next season!" -Coach Mike Pelletier

Boys Junior Varsity

"This group of athletes is a very hardworking bunch. These boys showed up to practice everyday with a positive, engaged attitude. This team met their goal of continued improvement through their hard work and dedication. They will be successful in the future not only in sports, but in life if they continue to dedicate themselves to being better everyday. I had a great time coaching these boys and look forward to next year."

Girls Varsity

"This group of seniors commitment to the basketball program over the past four years shows what awesome kids they truly are. Their great character and attitudes is something you won't find on any spreadsheet. The freshman girls really stepped up throughout this difficult season, with the help of the senior girls. They saved the program for the next chapter of rebels hoop."

The Science of Ms. Dole

#1 What is your favorite science experiment?

I like doing water quality testing because having clean water is important to everyone.

#2 How long have you been a science teacher?

I have been a science teacher for 20 years, 18 of them at Telstar.

#3 Why is science important?

Science is important because it teaches us how the Earth works, and it teaches us how we can keep discovering more every day.

What's your favorite part of math to teach? I also like it because there are no exceptions, and all math processes follow the same set of rules.

Why is math important? Math is important because it can be used to describe the behavior of many different things, and once the behavior is described, math can be used to predict what will happen under different conditions or in the future.

Starting Off

A new year begins and leaves us thinking....

As January first rolls around, we start reflecting on ways to better ourselves for the new year: out with the old and in with the new. Either diminishing old habits, or trying something new for a change. New Year's resolutions are easy to make, and are often times hard to keep. Sometimes we make resolutions to keep a resolution going all year or try one that had failed the previous year. We make resolutions that reflect on our core values, such as being nicer, more open to change, and being more confident. We make these resolutions in an attempt to make ourselves healthier, happier, and more organized. The top ten New Year's resolutions from last year were, to lose weight, getting organized, spend less and gain more, enjoy life to the fullest, staying fit and healthy, learn something new and exciting, quit smoking, helping others with their dreams, falling in love, and spending more time with family. Some of these resolutions may be realistic, while others may seem a little more unrealistic. All we have to do is try to stick with these resolutions no matter how difficult they may seem.

Telstar supports our friend, Jonathan Locke by wearing Jeans

Friendship is...

Through the good times and the bad times your friends keep you strong and remind you to laugh.

Webster's Dictionary defines friendship as the state of being friends. A friend is defined as a person you like and enjoy being with; a person who helps or supports someone.

The term friend takes on many forms depending on the person. We have friends at work, friends on Facebook that we may not talk to much in person, friends that we have known since Kindergarten, and friends we have lunch with every day.

For many of us here at Telstar, friendships are a personal support system. We go to our friends when we have had a fight with our parents or when we need advice. Friends bring smiles to our faces and a good laugh when it's needed most.

Our friends help us feel like we belong, help us gain confidence, and let's be honest... it's nice to find someone that is just as weird as you are or has the same sense of humor. It makes us feel like we fit in somewhere in this big world.

No matter the reason, friends help us grow. They make us stronger and they help us create memories. Our friendships here at Telstar have made us who we are today.

What is one of your favorite memories with your best friend?

Jodi Putnam

"Get in loser we're going shopping!" - Selena Cintron.

Ben Prsons

"When I went to NY with Savanna's family and we were on a boat heading across the lake to watch fireworks."

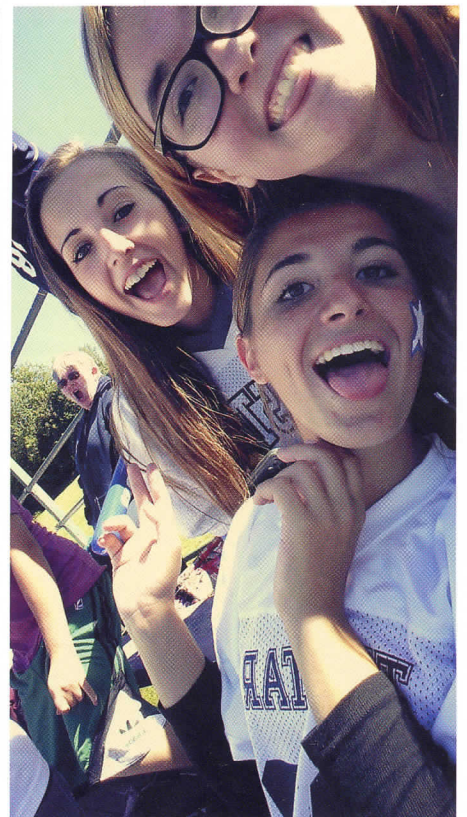

Taylor Mason

"I don't have just one favorite memory with Ben, because they're all are amazing."

Shannon Alanskas

"I have a lot of memories but spending time with them and being able to talk to them about anything is the best."

How to be a Bub-Guy

The guide on how to identify a true Bub-guy

1. Steel-toe boots with the toes worn just enough to see the steel showing through.
2. A Carhartt sweatshirt, usually black or a dark color.
3. Underneath the Carhartt sweatshirt there is a flannel shirt.
4. Some Bub-guys are seen wearing Carhartt vests over flannel.
5. A circular worn mark on the backpocket of jeans.
6. Baseball cap with visor formed into a horseshoe shape with a fish hook.
7. Maine-ah accent.

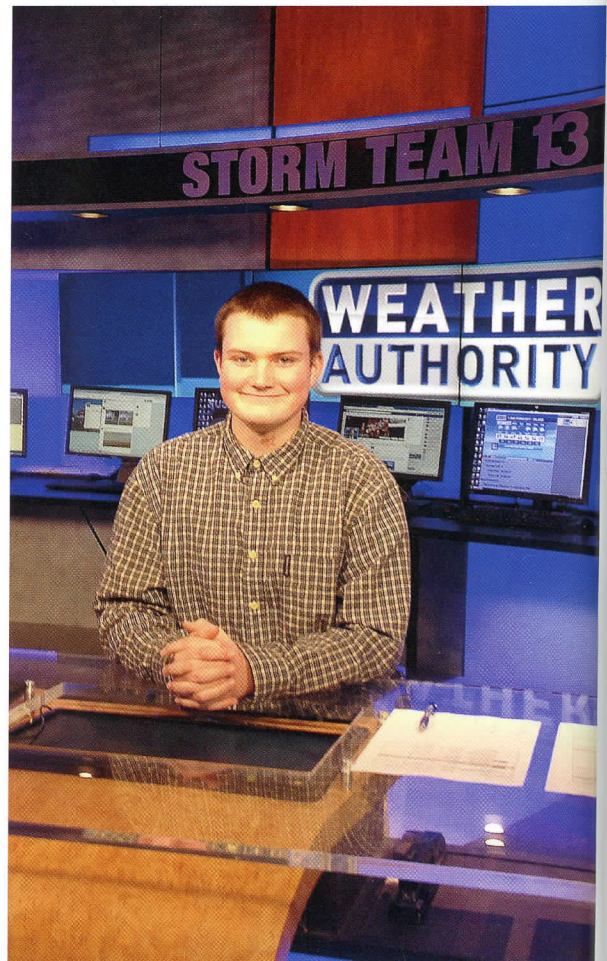

Weatherman John

Outlook for the class of 2016 is...
BRIGHT

In sixth grade John started predicting the amount of snow to determine if we would have a snow day. Ever since middle school, John has found weather fascinating. In March 2011, John created a facebook page so his weather predictions would be public and accessible.

Entering High school, he became more in depth with his predictions. John focused not only on how much snow we would get but how the time timing of the storm and how it was tracking.

Along with his facebook page, website, and interest in storm tracking, John has helped the Bethel area stay safe on the roads.

Now & Then

We all have to grow up sometime...

Avry Griffin and Caitlin Casey in art class with Ms. Ingraham in Kindergarten and Avry taking Art with Ms. Ingraham again in Grade 11.

Interview with Ms. Ingraham:

When did you start teaching? "I started teaching in 2003 right after I graduated from UMO."

What inspired you to become a teacher?: "I started coaching skiing at Sunday River when I was 16 and had a four year old student with special needs. He went up on the chair lift with me, and at the top of the mountain he started to freak out, and decided he didn't want to ski anymore. He started to take off his gear and didn't want to move. After a half an hour of trying to gain his trust, he skied down the hill with me. He came back repeatedly throughout the season and skied with me all season. Teaching him how to ski and be confident was empowering for me, and made me want to continue to create those moments for kids."

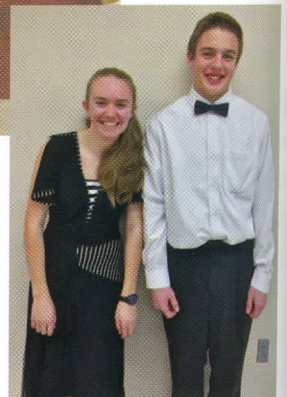

Have you ever thought about a different career?: If so, what career and why? "I have thought about becoming a inspirational speaker, and focusing more on my own personal artwork."

What is the best part about your job? "The best part about my job is that I started with all of my students in kindergarten, and I have had the opportunity to watch them change, create, grow, make memories, and be a consistent part of their lives throughout the most developmental part of their childhood and even more into their high school years as well. Not many teachers get the opportunity to teach their students kindergarten through their senior year of high school."

What is one of your favorite memories from all of the years that you have been teaching?: "One of my favorite memories would have to be creating the ceramic murals with the fifth grade classes of 2009, which happens to be this years graduating class. It was a lot of fun to create a make a collaborative piece that is permanently installed in our elementary schools."

Region 9

"Last year I went into Fire Science knowing somethings about being a Fire Fighter but the program tought me a lot about how dangerous it can be, and that the biggest reward is when you help someone in need. The biggest benefit of the program was getting my Fire 1&2 so I can be state certified when I'm 18." -Mercedes Letourneau

History

What college did you attend?

I graduated from the University of Southern Maine with Bachelor of Science in Education in 1968.

What were your favorite classes and how was your academic performance in High School?

My favorite classes in High School were Latin, Band, Geometry and Biology. I graduated 5th in my High School class.

If you didn't choose history, what career would you have chosen?

I was accepted at Wentworth Institute in Boston and could have majored in engineering. I also had a dream that I might be a full-time Disc Jockey.

Why did you choose to teach history?

My Junior year in college I was inspired by an elderly History Professor at USM named Ms. Esther Wood. She made the learning of history very enjoyable and I changed my major from Science and Math to History.

What college did you attend?

The University of Maine

What were your favorite classes and how was your academic performance in High School?

In high school I loved Science and liked Math. My favorite class(es), however, was a class called Project Adventure (and Project Adventure II). We did a lot of leadership/problem-solving stuff like students here would do in Telstar Challenge/at 4H Camp/or Bog Brook[? in West Bethel]). Unfortunately for me I was not a very motivated student. I put good effort into classes I liked (like my Physics class) but only worked for the B's (and sometimes C's) that would keep my parents from grounding me.

If you didn't choose history, what career would you have chosen?

No idea. I've done all kinds of work and nothing really excites me like the idea of getting to do something with history (and kids) every day.

Why did you choose to teach history?

I went to Orono to study Civil Engineering (I liked science and math, remember). But right away so much of my time was math (then science) that I kind of burned out quickly (and my bad habits didn't help much too). So I sat down and thought about what I like. I've always loved history (even though I didn't much like my high school history classes). So I looked at ways that I could turn history into work (and income). Education was the best option and as a bonus I would get to work with young people and maybe help them get past the hang-ups and bad habits that held me back (or at least made my life harder).

Proud to be Telstar Musicians!

By Jennifer Bennett

The Telstar Music Department is elated to announce two musicians who participated in the District II Instrumental Music Festivals this year. Carla Boyle-Wight (Flautist) and Christian Brown (Trombonist) performed at the Festival at Leavitt Area High School.

These two fine musicians have auditioned and have been accepted into instrumental festivals since they were in the fifth grade (see the then and now festival pictures) and are the true embodiment of what can be the result of musical perseverance!

Congratulations to both Carla and Christian! We are all extremely proud of your accomplishments and look forward to your musical.

Family is important to me because...

"Family is important to me because they gave birth to me"

"Family is important because they help in life."
-Skylar Bouchard

Our Family

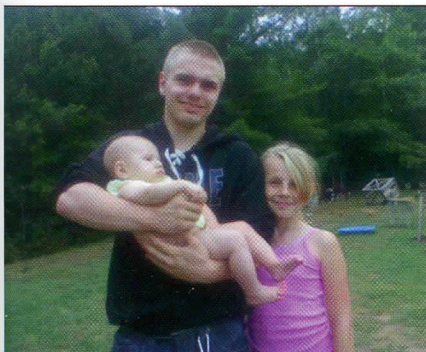

A link to the past and a bridge to our future.

Most of us cannot remember the first couple years of our life. In fact, the first four or five years might be fuzzy. For our parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, and maybe our siblings the memories are crystal clear. From our first steps, first words and first birthday our family has been there from the beginning.

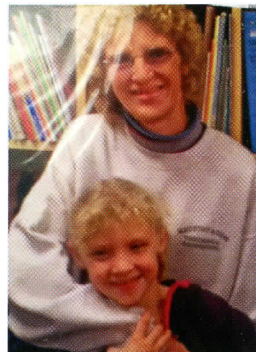

Family is our own personal cheering squad. They have been on the sidelines as we have marched down our educational pathway. They were there taking pictures on the first day of kindergarten, helping with homework, chaperoning field trips, and picking us up from after school activities.

As we have grown older, our schedules have become busier but our family has continued to be a constant support system. While friendships come and go, our family always remains part of our life.

With out family, life would be a lot more complicated and a lot more lonely. We often times forget how much our family does to help us grow and become the amazing people we are today. Our families are a significant part of who we are today. Our teachers, community, and friends may have helped us get through our school years, but it is our family that got us started and continue to nurture us along the way. Our families will continue to photograph pivotal moments in our lives, support us as we make tough decisions, and love us just as much as the day we entered this world.

"Family is important to me because without them I would not be here today ."
- Kane Merrill

"Family is important to me because they help me understand how the world works."
- Shania Swan

I Know What You Did Last Summer ...

Just in case you've ever wondered

Summer is a time for us to have life changing experiences. Some students went to different summer camps, others went to different countries, some were involved in different theater productions, and others just relaxed at home or on the beach. Every one of us had a different summer experience and no one knows exactly what everyone else did. Have you ever wondered how different classmates spent their summer? Here's a peak into how some different students spent their summer, so we can all say I know what you did last summer...

-Sierra Ryerson

"During the summer of 2015, I went to Seoul, South Korea for three weeks. I went with a program called the Fulbright English Program, which is a Korean-American immersion program, which takes kids from all over America to go to South Korea and basically hang out with Korean kids (aged 10-18) so they can benefit from each other culturally. I am the only student who has ever been chosen from Maine. I heard about this program through a family member who lives in South Korea as an English teacher currently. I decided to put on my big-boy undies and go for it. For the first two weeks of the program, I stayed at Jungwon University about an hour outside of Seoul (the capital). For this time period, I held the role of a Junior Counselor. My role as a JC was to hangout with the kids, transport them between classes, put them to bed, wake them up in the morning, etc. My role mirrored that of an average camp counselor. For the last week, I toured Seoul with the other Junior Counselors. I did so many things there, it's an amazing place. I even ate a silkworm, it was disgusting.

I think my favorite part of this program was the experiences I gained. I flew for the first time, I traveled to a foreign country all by myself, I met so many new people, learned a new language, ate a lot of new foods, and most importantly opened my mind to a whole new world. Going to Korea benefited me in so many ways. It opened my mind to so many new things I never would have even dreamed of. I became bilingual, I can speak Korean almost fluently now. Also, this trip definitely pushed me in the right direction, and showed me that foreign service is what I am most passionate about and it is definitely something I could see myself doing for the rest of my life.

If I could give any advice, it would definitely be to keep an open mind. Be willing to try new things, to plunge into the deep end so to speak. Nothing is impossible so think of something you want and make it happen. No matter what age you are, no matter your family's income. Also, being scared is a good thing. If you aren't scared to go after your dreams, then it's not what you really want. "

"Over the summer I attended the Academy Introductory Mission, a highly competitive program to get into at the US Coast Guard Academy. It was partially a boot camp, teaching us basics of military discipline through physical activities, yelling, marching and formations. Besides this it was very educational. Between all the groups, there was engineering competitions where we had to design and create radio controlled boats to perform tasks such as those the Coast Guard performs. At the end of the week, there was a competition between the groups, that were called companies, with their R/C boats. My company came in third in the competition, but we earned honor company for the whole week. It was a mentally and physically stressing week, but it was also very beneficial and educational. I am very glad I had the opportunity to attend."

-Kristi Hanscom

"This summer I went to UMO for 4 days while participating in the SELF program. SELF stands for Sustainable Energy Leaders of the Future. This program is for girls from all over the state of Maine who just finished their Sophomore year in high school. While we were there we did all sorts of fun things. We had a physics class with a professor there and he showed us all sorts of cool experiments, such as the wonders of liquid nitrogen. We went on field trips to the forest and paper mills and learned about how trees can be converted into energy that can be used to fuel jet planes, instead of using crude oil. We were given the opportunity to make batteries and were taught how to make electrical circuits. While we were there we had to do a project on renewable energy with two other girls, where we were given these kits and we could experiment with different things to see how to get the most power. We then had to present this to our parents. My group did a project on hydrogen fuel cells, which transform water into usable energy that can power different things. I absolutely loved this experience and would recommend it to any girl who loves science. My favorite part of this experience was being able to talk to girls my age who had the same interest in science that I have. I also really enjoyed making icecream with liquid nitrogen."

-Shylyn Buckman

"Naomi Carr and I (Shylyn Buckman) went to Dirigo Girl's State at Husson University. We were there for a week to learn about the government. Naomi was in the town of Humility and I was in the town of Justice. Fun fact our own librarian Ms. Fraser attended Girls State and was in the town of Friendship. Naomi was part of the Nationalist Party and was a Nationalist spy, she spied on the House of Representatives and the Congress to see what their votes would be. She would have been the Nationalist Treasurer if the Nationalist Candidate had won the election. I was part of the Federalist Party and was a member of the House of Representatives. The Feds candidate Salma won the election. We participated in a rally, town meetings, debates, also town, county, state, and presidential voting. We passed laws in the State of Dirigo to make it a better place. Being away from home and dealing with 230 some odd girls was tough but rewarding. Naomi's favorite part was sleeping and "What the Helen!" and mine was winning the talent show with my town and getting to preform at graduation. The motto for the week was "Be the Rainbow in Someone's Cloud." The week was a great experience and we would recommend it to someone interested in government, meeting new people, and living on a college campus for a week."

I Hope You Dance
By Lee Ann Womack

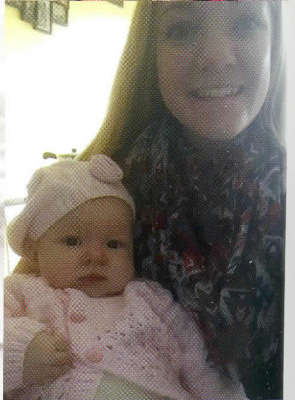

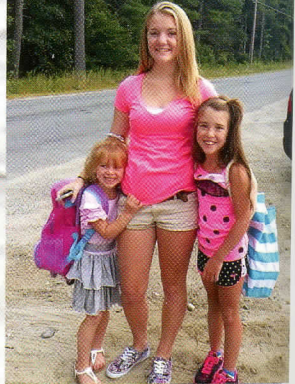

I hope you never lose your sense of wonder
 You get your fill to eat but always keep that hunger
 May you never take one single breath for granted
 God forbid love ever leave you empty handed
 I hope you still feel small when you stand beside the ocean
 Whenever one door closes I hope one more opens
 Promise me that you'll give faith a fighting chance
 And when you get the choice to sit it out or danceI hope you dance

I hope you never fear those mountains in the distance
 Never settle for the path of least resistance
 Livin' might mean takin' chances, but they're worth takin'
 Lovin' might be a mistake, but it's worth makin'
 Don't let some Hellbent heart leave you bitter
 When you come close to sellin' out, reconsider
 Give the heavens above more than just a passing glance
 And when you get the choice to sit it out or dance.....I hope you dance

I hope you still feel small when you stand beside the ocean
 Whenever one door closes I hope one more opens
 Promise me that you'll give faith a fighting chance
 And when you get the choice to sit it out or dance..... dance!

Emily,

Just wanted to let you know that we are very proud of you and know that you will make a great teacher! Go out and find the spark in you and illuminate the world! Oh, and "where is my phone"? :)

Love, Shelley and Brian

Freshie, Graduation? How can this be?! We are so proud of the smart, honest, beautiful, young woman you are today. You carry brightness that rivals the sun. We can't wait to see the great things you'll accomplish, and the legacy you'll leave for others to behold. Continue to be kind, continue to work hard and continue to amaze us!

All our love,
Erin, Jared, Gabe, and Grayson

Ash,

I can't believe you are already graduating. Just yesterday I was sending you to Kindergarten and now I'm getting ready to send you to college! What an amazing young woman you are turning out to be. All of the changes you have made through your high school career has helped you become so strong and independent. I can't wait to see what new adventures await you in the coming years! Embrace them and always know that you have a huge family that will always love and support you!!

I love you to the moon and back!!

Mom

Ash,

It was just yesterday you were a little girl. Watching you grow up has been a wonderful journey and I am so grateful to be a part of it. You are the daughter that I never had! The memories are endless....sleepovers, 4-wheeling, getting caught under a blanket, beach trips, cheering you on at your games, hair and eyebrow parties, and driving you home illegally. We have had so many great times together! Best of luck as the next chapter of your life begins. I know you will do amazing things! Keep that smile and determination! I am so proud of you!!

I love you!

Holly

Ashley,

You have grown into such a beautiful young woman. Good luck with all of your adventures!!!!

Love always,
Dad

Ash,

Is it your Senior year already? I feel like it was yesterday that you and I were dancing around the kitchen with your blonde curly locks. You've grown into such a beautiful, wise, intelligent young woman and I can't believe it's time for you to start your journey into this crazy world. Spread your wings sis, there is so much to offer and you can do anything you could possibly want in life!!

Love you always,
Tay

Dear, Ashley,

It seems like only yesterday that you were a two year old sitting on the couch, "reading" the Uncle Henry or snuggling on my shoulder on the swing at the farm. With your bright smile and curly locks you stole our hearts! Now you are a smart, beautiful, kind young woman ready to graduate and head off to college and new adventures. Our hearts will go with you always and we can't wait to see what wonderful places you will go. We are so very proud of you,

Ashley!

Love and hugs,
Grandmum and Grandpa

Ash,

I'm so happy that I met you and I am part o your life. Love you more than words can speak and I'm so proud of you!

On to the next adventure!!

Love you so much!

Nik

Yearbook Staff

we capture the moments

Yearbook staff works hard to document the moments that matter here at Teshtar High School. By taking photos, interviewing students, and getting the facts: we create our story.

The work doesn't stop after taking the photo, the yearbook staff designs the pages and thinks about how to visually communicate the story.
